

Creating Value For Our Clients

Bankruptcy, Workouts & Business Reorganization

Financially distressed businesses regularly use bankruptcy and other legal mechanisms to effectuate a financial and operational reorganization, an orderly liquidation, a going concern sale, or an abrupt closure. Those distressed businesses, and their creditors and other interested third-parties, require effective and responsive legal representation to help them first to formulate and then to implement strategies for protecting and advancing their interests based on established legal principles and solid business sense.

The attorneys of Seyfarth Shaw's Bankruptcy, Workouts & Business Reorganization Practice Group possess the breadth of industry experience and depth of legal skills to help clients effectively and efficiently address their insolvency-related challenges and achieve real business results. Our Bankruptcy attorneys, together with other lawyers in the firm, provide focused interdisciplinary representation to help our clients address both the immediate crises and long-term issues related to financially troubled businesses. We accomplish these objectives by developing and implementing effective strategies based on our clients' goals and the legal landscape, coupled with an analysis of the circumstances presented.

Overview

Seyfarth Shaw's Bankruptcy Group consists of approximately 25 attorneys skilled in the nuances of debtor/creditor relations and the various laws at the federal, state, and local level which apply and often dictate a particular outcome. The services that we provide include addressing circumstances that threaten the economic viability of long-standing organizations and the individuals associated with them, protecting the interests of parties having ongoing relationships with troubled enterprises, maximizing claim recovery for creditors, and identifying opportunities for investors.

Responding to the needs of its expanding client base, Seyfarth Shaw now has Bankruptcy Group attorneys practicing in our Atlanta, Boston, Chicago, Houston, Los Angeles, New York, and Washington, D.C. offices.
