

Steven Stone
Senior Director
Advanced Practices

Steve has over fifteen years of experience in threat intelligence and event response with positions in the U.S. military, intelligence community, and private sector. Steve held a number of positions to include threat intelligence, service delivery, and various leadership positions in the private sector including Mandiant, FireEye and IBM. He is a frequent contributor and presenter in a variety of industry forums/conferences. Prior to the private sector, Steve led a 15-person cyber threat intelligence team in the U.S. intelligence community for a Combatant Command.