CREATE YOUR OWN AFFIRMATIONS

WHAT

This page will help you to identify language to use for self-reinforcement when you're hearing negative self-talk in your head or when you're feeling negative energy.

WHY

Affirmations are a powerful tool for reframing negative thoughts and being more mindful. This exercise will help you to identify your own affirmation language.

HOW

Repeat your affirmations regularly when you need them, like in moments of self-doubt or negativity. Be sure to hang this page somewhere in sight or take a picture of it!

What's an affirmation?

An affirmation is a self-coaching tool that is used to interrupt negative thinking, by bringing you into the present moment and by stimulating positive thinking in your mind and positive emotions in your body.

Everyone is inspired by different language, so it's important to come up with your own affirmation language.

For example, two of my personal go-to affirmations include, "I can do this" and "I am safe". As you can see, my affirmations are simple, but they work for me.

Keep in mind, affirmations can be short and straightforward yet still have great impact. The key is to remember to say them often, in moments of need.

Using "I" statements, what language will you use:

In moments of stress?

(E.g. I am in control)

|

When you're feeling self-doubt?

(E.g. I can do this)

|

When you're feeling afraid?

(E.g. I will shine)

To give yourself a "pep talk"?

(E.g. I am safe)

|

Throughout the day to feel good about yourself?

(E.g. I am Love)

MY STORY

I didn't always feel empowered to be an unapologetic, fiercely authentic person. While I was successful and living the "corporate dream" as a lawyer in my early career, I had a realization that the person I was in my day-to-day life bore little resemblance to my true self. After much soul-searching, I decided I needed to transform my life. I completed my MBA, left my job and launched my own business. Most importantly, I committed to living as authentically as possible.

I've now presented in front of thousands of leaders around the world to inspire them to be more inclusive, and to encourage those who have experienced oppression to be more authentic and empowered. I have also dedicated my life to helping people to cultivate self-love so that they can live their best with confidence. And I want the same for you. In particular, I want you to embrace what makes you different and unique. I want you to shine!
